EDUCATION

- Doctor of Philosophy, Biopsychology and Behavioral Neuroscience, Rutgers University, 2007
New Brunswick, NJ, January 2007
Dissertation: The modulation of learning by stress: Identification of critical circuitry
- Master of Science, Biopsychology and Behavioral Neuroscience, Rutgers University, 2005
New Brunswick, NJ,
Thesis: The bed nucleus of the stria terminalis is necessary for the persistent enhancement of conditioning after stress
- Bachelor of Arts, Majored in Psychology, Minored in Biology, San Diego State University, 2001
San Diego, CA,
Honors: Summa Cum Laude, Phi Beta Kappa

FACULTY POSITIONS

- Director, College of Liberal Arts Program in Neuroscience: Systems, Behavior, and Plasticity, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA 2019–Present
- Associate Professor (with tenure), Department of Psychology and Neuroscience Program, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA 2018–Present
- Associate Professor (secondary appointment), Center for Substance Abuse Research, Lewis Katz School of Medicine, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA 2018–Present
- Associate Director, Master's Program in Neuroscience: Systems, Behavior, and Plasticity, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA 2016–2019
- Assistant Professor (tenure track), Department of Psychology and Neuroscience Program, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA 2012–2018

RESEARCH POSITIONS

- Postdoctoral Fellow, Stress Neurobiology, The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, Philadelphia, PA, Laboratory of Dr. Rita J. Valentino, 2006–2012
Studied sex differences in corticotropin releasing factor receptor structure and function as a mechanism underlying sex differences in vulnerability to psychiatric disorders
- Graduate Student, Biopsychology and Behavioral Neuroscience, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, NJ, Laboratory of Dr. Tracey J. Shors 2001–2006
Investigated the neuroanatomy underlying sex differences in the effects of stress on learning
- Summer Intern, National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Laboratory of Dr. Jordan Grafman, 2000
Assessed participants and designing visual stimuli for an fMRI study on the effects of cognitive processing on emotionally charged images

Research Assistant, Department of Psychology, San Diego State University, 1999–2001
 San Diego, CA, Laboratory of Dr. Phillip J. Langlais
 Investigated deficits in attention and cognition in a thiamine deficiency model of Wernicke-Korsakoff's syndrome in rats

AWARDS AND HONORS (Since 2001)

Fellow , International Behavioral Neuroscience Society	2021
Presidential Faculty Teaching Award , the College of Liberal Arts, Temple University	2020
Member , American College of Neuropsychopharmacology	2020
Excellence in Mentoring Award , Department of Psychology Honors Students, Temple University	2016
Janett Rosenberg Trubatch Career Development Award , Society for Neuroscience	2015
Presidential Citation , American Psychological Association	2014
Travel Fellowship , Winter Conference on Brain Research	2014
Associate Member , American College of Neuropsychopharmacology	2013
Science Undergraduate Research Grant , LI-COR Biosciences	2013
Poster Award , The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia Research Poster Day	2012
Associate Faculty Member , Faculty of 1000 Post-Publication Peer Review	2011
Proteomics Course , Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory	2011
Distinguished Research Trainee Award , The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia	2011
Poster Award , The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia Research Poster Day	2011
Julius Axelrod Travel Award , Society for Neuroscience Meeting	2010
Poster Award , Society for Behavioral Neuroendocrinology Meeting	2010
Travel Award , Society for Behavioral Neuroendocrinology Meeting	2010
Young Investigator Award , Gordon Research Conference Catecholamines	2009
Young Investigator Award , Workshop on Steroid Hormones and Brain Function	2009
Young Scientist Travel Award , American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics Conference	2009
Travel Awardee Breakout Session , American College of Neuropsychopharmacology Conference	2008
Young Investigator Memorial Travel Award , American College of Neuropsychopharmacology Conference	2008
Postdoctoral Scientist Award , American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics Conference, Neuropharmacology Division	2008
Hot Topic , American College of Neuropsychopharmacology Conference	2007
Poster Award , Biomedical Postdoctoral Research Symposium, University of Pennsylvania	2007
Poster Award , Society for Behavioral Neuroendocrinology Meeting	2006
Graduate Fellow , Rutgers Women in Neuroscience	2004
Research Scholarship , Western Psychological Association Meeting	2001
Research Award , Psi Chi, San Diego State University	2001
Research Award , College of Science Symposium, San Diego State University	2001
Poster Award , Psi Chi Poster Day, San Diego State University	2001
Commencement Speaker , San Diego State Psychology Department	2001
Graduate School Scholarship , Phi Beta Kappa's Epsilon Association	2001
Graduate School Scholarship , Mortar Board	2001

ONGOING GRANTS

R01 DA049837 , PI: Bangasser, Cols: Briand and Wimmer Sex differences in stress inoculation of addiction-like phenotypes	2020–2025
Supplement R01DA049837 , PI: Bangasser, Supplement PI: Cuarenta Diversity Supplement to support 2 years of Dr. Cuarenta's research	2021–2023

NSF Award , IOS-1929829, PI: Bangasser, Col: Parikh Sex differences in corticotropin releasing factor regulation of the septohippocampal memory circuit	2020–2025

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Instructor, Readings in Neuroscience, NSCI 9209, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA, Fall 2016, Spring 2017, Fall 2017, Spring 2018, Fall 2018, Spring 2019, Fall 2019, Spring 2020, Fall 2020
The goals of this class are to provide in depth analysis of primary source articles and to provide a forum where graduate students can interact and discuss science the world-leaders. Students read primary literature (i.e., a research article) and lead a discussion on the article. All are required to post questions on the article prior to each talk. This exercise is intended to promote scientific analysis and the development of public speaking skills. As part of this course I organize the Neuroscience Seminar Series, where I invite and organize visits for 5-6 speakers from each semester.

Instructor, Neuroendocrinology, NSCI 8007, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA, Fall 2017, Fall 2018, Fall 2020

Designed and will teach a graduate course that provides an in-depth exploration of the interactions between the endocrine system and the nervous system. The role of hormones in modulating behaviors and mental processes will be covered with the following topics: sex determination and differentiation, reproduction, parental behavior, social behavior, homeostasis, biological rhythms, stress, learning and memory, and affect. Specific learning objectives include teaching students to: 1) Identify common mechanisms by which hormones can affect the brain and the brain can regulate the endocrine system, 2) describe the mechanisms for common treatments for endocrine disorders, and 3) integrate multidisciplinary approaches to understand neuroendocrine function and dysfunction from the molecular to systems level.

Instructor, Stress and the Brain, PSY 3620, PSY3600, NSCI 3006, PSY 3006, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA, Fall 2015, Fall 2016, Fall 2017, Spring 2018, Fall 2018, Spring 2018, Fall 2018, Spring 2019, Fall 2019

Designed and taught a course surveying the clinical and preclinical research related to stress and health. A focus was on how the brain initiates stress responses, and how stress, in turn, impacts the brain to alter behavior. The role that stress plays in the development of disorders, such as depression and post-traumatic stress disorder, was also explored. Specific learning objectives included teaching students to: (1) define and distinguish central and endocrine responses to stress, (2) demonstrate an understanding of the factors that contribute to stress vulnerability and resilience, (3) be able to describe how dysregulated stress responses can contribute to disease, (4) be able to critically evaluate and present research articles pertaining to stress and health, (5) demonstrate critical thinking skills when reading and discussing original research articles, and (6) be able to lead in-class discussions.

Instructor, Functional Neuroanatomy, NSCI 2001, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA, Spring 2014–Fall 2016, Fall 2019

Designed and taught a course providing a broad overview of the structures of the brain and their function. Developed a sheep brain dissection laboratory, which was the first anatomy laboratory in the College of Liberal Arts at Temple. Specific learning objectives included teaching students to: (1) identify major circuits in the brain including motor systems, somatosensory systems, brainstem nuclei and cranial nerves, hypothalamic nuclei, the limbic system, and cortical areas, (2) describe how brain regions within each system interact to help maintain homeostasis and modulate behavior, and (3) apply knowledge to clinical cases in order to understand how disruptions in anatomy (e.g., lesions, degeneration, trauma) alter function.

Instructor, Neurobiology of Disease, NSCI 2222, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA, Spring 2013

Designed and taught a course on the etiology and treatment of major nervous system disease. Specific learning objectives included teaching students: (1) how genetic, autoimmune, infection, and environmental factors cause pathology of the nervous system, (2) to describe the neurotransmitter systems and critical brain circuitry that are affected in different diseases, (3) common research methods detect the causes of nervous system disorders, and (4) how current treatments for these diseases (e.g., pharmacotherapies, surgery, deep-brain stimulation) work.

POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWS SUPERVISED

Alexia Williams, Postdoctoral Fellow, Psychology Department, Temple University Early life stress effects on social reward and motivated behavior	2021–Present
Amelia Cuarenta, Postdoctoral Fellow, Psychology Department, Temple University Early life stress alterations of the genome (retrotransposons) and epigenome	2020–Present

DOCTORAL STUDENTS AND PROJECTS/DISSERTATIONS SUPERVISED

Alyssa Kniffin, Doctoral Student, Psychology Department, Temple University Corticotropin releasing factor regulation of septohippocampal circuitry	2020–Present
Evelyn Ordoñez Sanchez, Doctoral Student, Psychology Department, Temple University The effects of stress on impulsivity	2017–Present
Samantha Eck, Doctoral Student, Psychology Department, Temple University The effects of early life stress on hormones and behavior	2016–2021
Kimberly Wiersielis, Doctoral Student, Psychology Department, Temple University Corticotropin releasing factor in the medial septum and its effects on cognition	2013–2018

MASTER'S STUDENTS AND PROJECTS/THESES SUPERVISED

Cori Peterson, Master's Student, Neuroscience Program, Temple University Investigating whether stress or sex affects cholinergic morphology in the striatum	2020–Present
Miranda Langrehr, Master's Student, Neuroscience Program, Temple University Corticotropin releasing factor binding protein regulation of female stress resilience	2020–Present
Jamie Palmer, Master's Student, Neuroscience Program, Temple University Early life stress affects adult male reproductive behaviors	2018–2020
Alexander Telenson, Master's Student, Neuroscience Program, Temple University Chronic stress regulation of sustained attention and cholinergic dendritic morphology in male and female rats	2016–2018
Brittany M. Wicks, Master's Student, Professional Science Master's in Biotechnology, Temple University Sex differences in the antidepressant effects of scopolamine in rats	2015–2016
Jessica Tucci, Master's Student Rotation, Professional Science Master's in Biotechnology, Temple University Effects of chronic variable stress in anxiety and depressive-like behaviors	2015
Yushi Kawasumi, Master's Student, Psychology Department, Temple University Corticotropin releasing factor (CRF) impairs sustained attention in male and female rats	2013–2015
