

Entering Student Exceptions from the Audit

Intro

DARS exceptions enable an advisor to make changes to an individual student's academic program. They can waive courses and/or completion of particular Requirements or Subrequirements.

Key

The Requirement Complete button is a gray checkmark.

The Subrequirement Complete button is an orange checkmark.

The Force Course button is an orange downwards arrow.

Accessing Exceptions from the Audit

Run the DARS for the student you wish to give the exception. On the DARS, click the 'Enter Exception Mode' button, found on the upper right of the audit.

Enter Exception Mode

To cancel out of exception mode, click the 'Exit Exception Mode' button, found on the upper right of the audit.

Exit Exception Mode

Requirement/Subrequirement Complete Exceptions

Clicking Requirement or Subrequirement Complete will enter a CP Exception (equivalent to the RC Exception) and mark the Requirement or Subrequirement it is next to complete.

When you have clicked either button, you will be shown a box that allows you to edit details of the exception. Fully complete the Audit Note and Memo fields. These will provide a reference on why the exception is being given.

Leave the 'Restrict to this Degree Program' box unchecked. It should be avoided on GenEd and College requirements, and it has no effect on major-specific ones.

Restrict to this Degree Program.

Students can view the 'Audit Note' on their DARS, although some Requirements are set up in ways that may hide it.

Audit Note

(Maximum characters: 27)

The 'Memo' is designed for leaving detailed information for other advisors and is visible in the system but does not directly appear on the audit.

Memo

Force Course Exception

Clicking Force Course enters a CS Exception (an enhanced version of the SC exception, which can force a course into more than one location) for the Subrequirement it is next to.

When you have clicked the Force Course button, you will be shown a box that allows you to edit details of the exception.

Troubleshooting

- One potential issue that may occur is that some or all of the exception icons are unclickable while in Exception Mode. If this occurs, check and reduce your browser's zoom level and then log out and return to the page. This occurs because zoom levels of greater than 100% may sometimes result in the icons becoming displaced from their click-boxes and therefore unusable.

Summary

Now you know how to enter exceptions from the audit! Contact the DARS team at dars@temple.edu if you have any additional questions.
