

Justice Is...
By Tyler Rebmann

Justice is like perfection;
something we can only strive for
To look into your own reflection and be self aware of your privileges

Justice is when the hungry can eat
When the homeless are treated with humanity instead of spikes on bench seats

Justice is something to fight for
To be compassionate, not to whisper but to roar
unlike a bystander

Justice is the turn of your gut there's a feeling you can't shake when things go unjust

Justice is something many don't see so recognize your privilege and help those in need with great power comes great responsibility

Justice is my grandmother who's shown me to release my ego and to have compassion for others
