

Justice or just a lie?

Running from the cops, got me calling my pops,
Caught dealing dope, that's the only way we could ever cope,
Rejecting the negativity while maintaining the creativity,
While everybody conforming to slaves of a generation, consuming this illegal medication,
All for a temporary high, but never looking inside the mind,
Kids dying from depression, on TikTok trending like it's becoming an obsession,
All in denial, until you're suicidal,
While we lose our loved ones, from a bullet of a loaded gun,
Dropping to the ground, shouting stay down, Changing the TV to the news, seeing parents separated from their youth, while the world just tries to figure out the truth, Posters of the American dream, isn't it just a big scheme?
Wealth isn't attainable without jobs sustainable,
It's not u versus me in this World War III,
It's the need to look inside for inner peace, and about putting down that loaded piece,
It's about the human soul not about some discriminatory goal,
To imprison the minority without the authority,
To decide between right and wrong, forced to face a lifelong,
Justice delayed is justice denied.
Who decides equal and unequal?
Where's the justice for all people?